

PRACTICAL WORKSHOP

12, 13 & 14 July 2023

Santiago de Compostela (Spain)
Registration begins on March 2023

EDUCATION TO LIVE WITH FIRE

Practical workshop on educational innovation regarding forest fires

Wildfires are a complex issue that impacts our natural, social and economic context. Recent decades have seen an increase on early detection, wildfire prevention or restoration, but the implementation of these methods is still limited. That is why it's essential to search for new avenues to increase the knowledge transfer to society.

In this context, the practical workshop Education to Live with Fire, aims to foster the exchange of ideas around education and training on forest fires.

Planning to attend?

Click here to answer a brief survey.

Coordinated by:

With support from:

KEY GOALS

- To exchange pedagogical strategies and innovative approaches.
- To promote knowledge transfer about wildfires to society.
- To build a collaborative environment between all stakeholders related to wildfire prevention and education.

PARTICIPANTS

- Teachers, researchers, trainers (currently active or in training).
- Owners and representatives of forest communities.
- Public and private managers.
- Students.
- NGOs and associations.

PROGRAMME

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12

- Welcome and introduction.
- Workshop on educational innovation and gamification techniques.
- Student-led roundtables on Service-Learning methodologies and previous experiences.
- Field trip to a burned area in the proximity of Santiago de Compostela.

THURSDAY, JULY 13

Full day on the field, including activities outside:

- Workshop: education in the outdoors.
- Service-Learning activities on site, brainstorming about rural development strategies.

FRIDAY, JULY 14

- Keynote speaker.
- Workshops and roundtables on a variety of topics: environmental communication and audiovisual content, future of the sector and training/educational needs.
- Launch of the Iberian Working Group in Education, Training and Knowledge Transfer on Forest Fires.

More information:

www.facingfire.eu

